

RESEARCH COMMUNICATION

For Postgraduate Students

A course that helps with thesis writing and research presentations

This course on research communication sets out to improve the productive (writing and speaking) skills of students with particular reference to writing PhD theses in English and presenting their research. Two broad subsidiary aims are to increase students' confidence in the use of academic English, and to provide them with an awareness of tools and resources for continued self-study and enhancement of their abilities.

The course is organized intensively, and comprises six 3-hour sessions, and is thematically based in its treatment of research writing and spoken presentations.

The following topics will be covered:

- 1 Scientific communication
- 2 Thesis introduction
- 3 Literature review
- 4 Thesis proposal and methodology
- 5 Results, conclusion and abstract
- 6 Research presentation

A certificate of completion will be awarded to students who have completed the course. (100% attendance required upon registration)
